TREASURY STRATEGIES PROMOTES JUDSON MURCHIE TO CONSULTANT

Treasury Strategies today announced the promotion of Judson Murchie to Consultant. Mr. Murchie joined the firm four years ago and is currently involved in a variety of Financial Institutions projects.

“For the past four years, Judson has played an instrumental role in developing Treasury Strategies,” said Jill Selgrad, Vice President of Treasury Strategies. “With his new responsibilities, we’re confident that Judson will help take the Financial Institutions practice area to the next level, and continue to share his many talents with clients and with fellow team members.”

Since joining Treasury Strategies, in 2001, Judson Murchie has held several positions within the firm. As a Consultant, Judson has been involved in a variety of Financial Institutions projects, including cross-sell analyses, pricing benchmarks and revenue realization initiatives. In his corporate experience, Judson has provided the analysis for several RFP engagements, conducted for both large corporations and universities. Prior to being a Consultant, Mr. Murchie served Treasury Strategies as corporate Staff Accountant and as Financial Analyst. Judson received a BA in Philosophy from Bethel University in St. Paul, Minnesota.
