Carfang to Moderate Panel on Changing Bank Landscape at AFP Conference in Los Angeles

October 16, 2008 – Anthony J. Carfang, Partner with Treasury Strategies, Inc., will moderate, “Watching Banks Evolve: Understanding the Changes in the Treasury Services Market,” on Monday, October 20th at 10:30 a.m. during the 2008 AFP Annual Conference in Los Angeles, California.

“Major changes are rolling across the banking landscape – including consolidation, recapitalization, globalization, refocusing and repricing,” said Carfang. “Understanding how these changes will affect corporate Treasury is of critical importance, especially in this uncertain global economy.”

Participating on Carfang’s panel is a group of seasoned Treasury professionals from top-tier organizations. Panel members include Ed Barrie, Treasury Group Manager at Microsoft; Doug Davis, Staff Director, Global Cash Management at FedEx; and Charles Walls, Assistant Treasurer and Director of Cash at Exelon.

The panel will probe how this changing and turbulent banking environment, as well as uncertain global economy, will impact the strategic role of Treasury inside an organization.

“We are operating in a new world. There will be new rules and significant change,” said Carfang. “Treasurers will play an increasingly strategic role navigating their companies through this crisis. At the end of the day, it’s the payment and liquidity solutions Treasurers create that will guide their companies through.”
